LOGIN AND CREATION OF USER PROFILE

You log in on the application portal through WAYF (“Where Are You From”), a national login service, which is used by Danish universities, MitID, etc.

There are three different ways to log in:

- Login via an active institutional login at a Danish university (institutional login/WAYF-login)
- Login as self-registered user
- Login with MitID/NemID

FIRST LOGIN: THE APPLICATION PORTAL CREATES YOUR USER PROFILE

When you login to the application portal for the first time with one of the three ways to login, the application portal creates your user profile. After your first login, you decide which way to login you want to use as all three methods gives you access to your user profile and your applications.

Your profile data will be updated automatically with MitID login or an institutional login

Please note that if you log in with MitID or an active institutional login from a Danish university, your user profile will be updated with data from these sources. If some of your profile data has been updated upon login, e.g., your first name or surname, the application portal shows you your profile with the updated data.

Change your email address on your profile whenever you want

When your user profile is created upon first login, you must fill in an email address to which we send all messages from the system. Your email address is not updated automatically. However, you can always change it on your profile. For more information, see the section “How to change email address on your user profile”.

STEP BY STEP: CREATION OF YOUR USER PROFILE

Use this link to open the application portal. You start on the page “Welcome to the Application Portal”:

AO0001 - Welcome to the Application Portal

Welcome to the joint application portal for master's programmes, electives, continuing and further education and training at the Danish universities.

Select how you want to log in:

- "Log in with MitID".
- "Log in with institutional login" can be used if you have a institutional login, e.g., at a Danish university.
- "Log in as self-registered user" can be used if you previously created a user here at the Application Portal.

Log in via institutional login Log in as self-registered user Log in with MitID

New user?

If you don't have MitID or a institutional login, you must first set up a user.

Use a personal email address that you always have access to. If you have any questions about logging in to the Application Portal, please contact the university to which you want to apply for admission.

Once you are a registered user, log in by choosing "Log in as a self-registered user".

Set me up as a user

Choose, e.g., “Log in with MitID/NemID”. When you click the button, you will be taken to nemlog-in.mitid.dk to log in to the application portal. Subsequently, it sends you to “WAYF” (Where Are You From) where you see all the data about you that MitID sends to the application portal. Click “OK” to go to the application portal:

You are about to log into DANS-test5.

DANS-test5

The information below is required for access to the service.

Click here for a detailed description of the fields.

At the bottom left of the white box is a button labeled "OK". Below the white box, there is a note: "If your personal information is not correct you must contact the institution (NemID / MitID), where they originate."

Upon first login, the application portal shows you the information that it has used to create your user profile. Fill in citizenship and email address yourself and click “Save and continue”:

The screenshot shows the "AO0009 User profile" page. It displays the following information:

You have now created the following user profile in the Application Portal.

| * Danish social security number (CPR) | 040890- [REDACTED] | NemLog-in (21-03-2023) |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------|------------------------|

At the bottom right, there is a button labeled "Save and continue".

When you click “Save and continue”, you are asked to validate your email address via an activation link before you can use your profile.

NB. If you create a “self-registered user” instead of logging in with MitID, you must fill out the above information in a self-registration form. Find more information in the section “Set me up as a user”.

NB. If you log in with an active login from a Danish university (institution login), you will only have to add an email address as your citizenship is prefilled.

LOG IN VIA AN ACTIVE INSTITUTIONAL LOGIN AT A DANISH UNIVERSITY

You can only use this login method if you have an active institutional login at a Danish university.

Click on “Log in via institutional login” and choose your current university from the WAYF institution list (see the pictures below). After you have chosen your institution, you are directed to the login page of your institution. Enter your username and password.

Choose, e.g., IT University of Copenhagen if you are enrolled at the IT University.

Select how you want to log in:

- “Log in with MitID”.
- “Log in with institutional login” can be used if you have a institutional login, e.g., at a Danish university.
- “Log in as self-registered user” can be used if you previously created a user here at the Application Portal.

If you get an error message, it may be because you do not have an active institutional login from your home university. Please contact the IT Department at your home university or choose another login method.

NB. If it is your first login, the application portal automatically creates your user profile where you are asked to fill in an email address. Find more information in the section "Creation of your user profile".

LOG IN AS SELF-REGISTERED USER

Please note that you have to set up a user (self-registration) to use this login method (see guide below on how to set yourself up as a user).

Select how you want to log in:

- "Log in with MitID".
- "Log in with institutional login" can be used if you have a institutional login, e.g., at a Danish university.
- "Log in as self-registered user" can be used if you previously created a user here at the Application Portal.

If you have not created a user, you can do this by clicking on "Set me up as a user". See guide below.

SET ME UP AS A USER

New user?

If you don't have NemID/MitID or a WAYF-login, you must first set up a user.

Use a personal email address that you always have access to. If you have any questions about logging in to the Application Portal, please contact the university to which you want to apply for admission.

Once you are a registered user, log in by choosing "Log in as a self-registered user".

Set me up as a user

Click "Set me up as a user".

If you are already registered as a user (e.g. from an earlier application or if you have applied for admission to another university), you do not have to set up a new user, you just login using the same email address that you have used earlier.

If you have a Danish CPR number, you must fill in the following fields when setting up a user:

- First/Middle Names
- Last name
- Nationality (choose from list)
- Email (Make sure that you have entered the right email address)
- Documentation for identity (we only accept a copy of your passport)
- Your Danish social security number (CPR).

Click “Create” when you have entered your information. The system will now send you an email regarding activation of your account to the email address you have registered. The email contains a link to a webpage, where you activate your account by entering the password you wish to use. Please note that this email may end up in your spam filter.

LOG IN WITH MITID

Select how you want to log in:

- "Log in with MitID".
- "Log in with institutional login" can be used if you have a institutional login, e.g., at a Danish university.
- "Log in as self-registered user" can be used if you previously created a user here at the Application Portal.

Log in via institutional login

Log in as self-registered user

Log in with MitID

You can only use this option if you have a Danish MitID. Make sure that your tablet, smartphone or computer fulfill the technical requirements set up by MitID.

When you are ready, choose "Log in with MitID/NemID" as shown above after which the system sends you to "NemLog-in" to login to the application portal:

After logging in the MitID or NemID it sends you to the application portal where you can create one or more applications.

NB. If it is your first login, the application portal automatically creates your user profile where you are asked to state your citizenship and fill in an email address. Find more information in the section "Creation of your user profile".

WAYF CONSENT

When you have logged in using one of the above methods, you will be presented with a WAYF consent form that informs you what information the user account transfers to the application system. Make sure that your CPR number are correct – check the field “National ID number”. When you have accepted the information in the WAYF consent certificate, it sends you to the application portal:

If your personal information is not correct you must contact the institution (NemID / MitID), where they originate.

HOW TO CHANGE EMAIL ADDRESS ON YOUR USER PROFILE

If you want to change the email address after the creation of your user profile, you can easily change it. We send all messages from the application portal to the email on your profile, and thus it is important that it is up to date.

When have logged in to the application portal, choose the tab “User Information”. Here you can change the email address on your profile. When you have done that and click “Save”, you must validate the email address to move on:

AO0007 User Details

Welcome to your personal start page on the common application portal.
The tab 'Create application' shows the offers to which you can apply for admission.
The tab 'See status of applications' allows you to follow your already submitted applications.
The tab 'Messages' allows you to read messages from the caseworkers.
User Information

The screenshot shows the 'User Information' tab selected. The 'E-mail' field contains 'dannyanstest@gmail.com'. Below the form, there are two buttons: 'Change Password' and 'Save'. The 'Save' button is highlighted with a red box and a red arrow.

To validate your new email address, click “Send e-mail with validation code” to your new email address. When you have received an email with a validation code paste it in the field below and accept:

The screenshot shows the 'Validate e-mail address' form. The 'Send e-mail with validation code' button is highlighted with a red arrow. The 'Validation code' field contains '66267' and is highlighted with a red arrow. The 'Accept' button is also highlighted with a red arrow.

LOGIN AS SELF-REGISTERED USER IF MITID OR LOGIN WITH AN ACTIVE INSTITUTION LOGIN IS OUT OF FUNCTION

If you cannot log in with MitID or an active login from a Danish university if the services are out of function due to a technical issue or the like, you can still log in to the application portal via the login method “self-registered user”.

Choose “Log in as self-registered user”:

Select how you want to log in:

- “Log in with MitID”.
- “Log in with institutional login” can be used if you have a institutional login, e.g., at a Danish university.
- “Log in as self-registered user” can be used if you previously created a user here at the Application Portal.

Then click “Forgot password?” to create a password to login as a self-registered user and thus to get access to your user profile:

Enter your email and password

A service has requested you to authenticate yourself. Please enter your username and password in the form below.

DO YOU NEED MORE HELP?

If you have any questions regarding the login procedure or just need help in general, please contact Student Affairs and Programmes.

If you need help regarding the application process, you can read more about this in the application guide, which you will find on our website. The guide helps you through the application process step-by-step.
